From the first night he used the mouth and nose strips, my husband's snoring reduced to almost nothing. It's meant that I can sleep all night without being disturbed. His snoring had ruined my sleep for decades, so this is a minor miracle! My husband says his mouth is less dry and he sleeps better because he is not mouth breathing. He even uses them when I'm away. A great success.

When I first used these they helped me sleep, however being obese my lips started to sweat and I struggled sleeping after the 4th night. The sleep strips help, but definitely do your research BEFORE buying. It's best to buy ONE PACK first (non subscription) and test them out. Will recommend them but if you need a good nights sleep these are a temporary fix.

I am a 68 year old male with an annoying snore which stops my 65 year old wife from getting a decent nights sleep. To avoid resorting to separate bedrooms our son told us about Respire and his success. First I tried the nasal strips which gave me so much more oxygen at night. I use the sleep watch app and started tracking my progress. Still my wife complained of my noises at night so my son told me to use the mouth tape. This was when these two Respire products combined to completely change my S...

Absolutely love it! Works like a charm for a restful sleep with minimal snoring. Just a heads up, it does leave a bit of sticky residue.

I was very sceptical, having used just about every mouth strip out there I ended up using imported micropore tape, I am a chronic mouth breather and cpap user, I use nasal pillows and tape my mouth shut EVERY NIGHT otherwise I can't sleep. The only thing that kept my mouth shut all night was micropore tape, until I tried respire, for the first few nights I used micropore over the top of the respire strip so I could assure a nights sleep, I

I love this mouth tape! I've tried several brands, and this is by far the best one. I love how I don't have any sticky residue on my mouth when I take it off in the morning. Fully recommend.

I've used many brands of mouth tape over the years, from cheap amazon strips to expensive ones like hostage tape and these are in between. Love the strip itself, but the adhesive is very strong and leaves your lips dry and sticky. I've never had this experience with any other mouth tape and I don't particularly like it.

Wearing the respire tape has certainly made a difference with my breathing however, some nights if I start coughing (I do suffer from asthma I have to remove it). Apart from that I am really happy with the product and have recommended it to others.

I've tried a medical tape my dentist recommended for mouth taping but 50% of nights I would wake up with the tape missing. Two weeks into using this product from Respire and this hasn't happened even once. This is such a great practice for self care that I look forward to continuing. Love the little metal case for the strips and im sure that will also be useful for travel.

Was not sure about these so ordered the smallest number . Lots of big claims on Facebook adds ! They work better than expected ! Easy to put on and takeoff. Plus you can actually use them more than once if you want. They keep me from mouth breathing at night, but if for some reason I have to cough, I can cough and the strips stay in place and still keep my mouth shut. My wife complained about the noise from mouth breathing when I had the CPAP machine on. That noise is gone!

Unfortunately I was unable to tolerate having a strip across my mouth. It is nothing to do with the brand, if I'd been able to tolerate I would definitely have stuck with Respire. I'm such a bad sleeper that it annoyed me and I couldn't get to sleep to get the benefits! My five star rating is for Respire's customer service. I persevered and tried the strips for 30 days then emailed to enquire about the 30 day risk free trial refund. They got back to me within the day, appreciated my feedback ...
